STINAPA
STINAPA is the foundation for protection of the Washington Slagbaai National Park and the Bonaire National Marine Park. Visit their website to obtain more information: www.stinapa.org

Washington Slagbaai National Park
Washington Slagbaai National Park is a 4,286 hectares nature sanctuary located in the northwest part of the island. It is a safe habitat for the terrestrial endemic and endangered species of Bonaire. Parrots, flamingos, parakeets, iguanas and many other species of birds and reptiles can be found in this protected area. The beaches inside the park are an important nesting ground for all four species of sea turtles found in the Caribbean. The visitor center at the park entrance, with its museum and hiking trails offers visitors an enjoyable learning experience.

Bonaire National Marine Park
Bonaire has a long-standing tradition of marine preservation that starts with the protection of the turtle (1961), harpoon fishing also prohibited (1971), and the protection of their coral reef (1975), amongst many environmental measures. In 1979 the Bonaire National Marine Park was established.

Nature Fee
All users of the Bonaire Marine Park are required to purchase the Marine Park Tag: US$45.00 for divers and US$25.00 for all other users. Revenue from the Nature Fee provides the funds to manage the parks and guarantees lasting success in nature protection and conservation on Bonaire.
LETS DIVE INTO THE WATER

It is well known that Captain Don Stewart is considered the founder of our dive industry in Bonaire and the leader of the island’s environmental conservation especially of its marine eco-system. Captain Don as one of the founders of the Bonaire Marine Park led the charge for the preservation of its reefs. When he arrived in Bonaire in 1962 he wrote: “It's a fantastic underwater island”. Soon demonstrating to the world that he was right.

Today Bonaire is recognized as one of the top 10 places for scuba diving. Thanks to his efforts and the many people who understood the importance of his words. Captain Don passed away in May 2015 in Bonaire, the place he called home since his arrival.

In Bonaire we are very proud of Captain Don and honored him with a “Lifetime Achievement Award”.

HONOR TO

WHOM HONOR IS DUE
Are you a beginner or advanced diver? Bonaire is the place to be! Very few places in the world meet the perfect conditions to dive like in Bonaire. Its corals are protected by the first marine park in the Caribbean which makes its marine life one of the most spectacular in the world.

Bonaire offers various ways of diving such as shore diving and boat diving. There are more than 85 official dive sites on Bonaire and on Klein Bonaire, of which 54 are shore dive sites.

To dive you must be certified. Never dived before? Don’t worry, Bonaire has all the logistical conditions on land and is diversified enough in its dive sites that you can obtain your dive certificate and training unlike any other place in the Caribbean.

Reminder: Before you go diving please purchase your dive tag. This is valid for a calendar year.

The majority of vacation packages in Bonaire include a car rental and a map with scuba sites numbered North to South. The North side of the island is hilly making the dive platform short and just a few meters from the close shoreline walls of sponges and corals.

But the Southside of the island is a bit flatter making the sea floor less hilly and, in some places, there are two parallel rows of corals forming a valley of white sand between them. The dive sites around Klein Bonaire are marked in letters on the map and are only accessible by boat. In Klein Bonaire the wall descends to an abyssmal depth.

Dives in Bonaire are sensational. No matter how you get there whether by car or boat. There will always be a memorable moment that will always remain with you.

But remember, diving is just the beginning on Bonaire!
Is your passion exploring the sea? Have you tried snorkeling and are looking to submerge yourself a bit more without heavy equipment? Then we invite you to discover Freediving!

Freediving is the most natural and relaxing way and truly the sportiest way to submerge yourself into the sea. Freediving has had rapid development these last few years. We have a few schools on the island that teach this exciting sport step by step.

Bonaire is one of the most complete places to explore the possibilities for educational development and practices for freediving for all levels. Calm, tropical, crystal clear water all year-round and depths accessible from the coastline are just a few reasons.

“Freediving in Bonaire is an extraordinary experience of connection with yourself and the ocean” - Carlos Coste

Carlos Coste is a world class freediver and record holder.

Bonaire is one of the first to associate itself with the “restoration” of corals. This program was initiated in 2012 to protect and restore the most beautiful corals in the Caribbean for many generations to come.

Thanks to a permit given by the islands counselors and under the supervision of Bonaire National Park, Reef Renewal Foundation Bonaire (RRFB) was able to collect some fragments belonging to different genotypes of coral: Staghorn and Elkhorn to transfer to coral farms located in more shallow waters. The largest coral farm is in Klein Bonaire where public access is limited. Other farms for growing, development and training for volunteers are located in front of the resorts that support the cause; Buddy Dive, Harbour Village and Eden Beach.

Thanks to this initial program there are now second and third generations of coral. This means that RRFB has been able to populate over 14,000 corals in eight nurseries and over 30,900 corals have been outplanted back to Bonaire’s reefs.

The program offers options for those that want to be part of this movement from a distance. Adopt a coral, a tree from a coral farm or a section to restore. All of these options are wonderful and direct ways to contribute back to our marine eco-system.

Bonaire will keep making efforts to make sure that its reefs remain as they are for the delight of divers and lovers of the sea that keep coming back to the island.

Bonaire has over 22 unique beaches. On the main island and Klein Bonaire, the sands of some beaches are soft and blindingly white, while others are coarser and darker due to the high content of crushed shells and coral. Along the coastal roads you will easily spot a great beach for either sunbathing, strolling, swimming, snorkeling or diving.

EXPERIENCE THE CULTURE

Influences from around the world have been combined on Bonaire in a truly unique mixture, testifying to how successfully the people have been able to integrate their different ethnic backgrounds. This unique history and culture of Bonaire can be seen in the faces of its people.

Bonaire’s culture is deeply rooted in African traditions with religious celebrations, harvest festivals and is influenced by European traditions. From Africa comes the great festival dance of the Simadan and the Bari, with their polyphonic musicality and a whole range of percussive instruments.

Their tribal rhythms are played with modern instruments. Musicians on Bonaire proved unusually resourceful in their ability to create new instruments from broken tools. A small percussive instrument known as the Chapi is made from the metal end of a hack and is struck with a small metal bar. The blade of a plough serves as a base for the Agan. These, along with the cowhorn and the conch, form some of the traditional musical instruments of Bonaire.

Bonaire also has different European influences since the colonial years. This is why Dutch has become its official language with Papiamentu spoken nationally. Spanish and English is also spoken on the island.

If you would like to better understand and experience Bonaire’s culture be sure to visit its museums.

MANGAZINA DI REI

When you enter Rincon you will encounter a large white building at your right side. This is Mangazina di Rei, “Warehouse of the King”. Mangazina di Rei is the second oldest building of Bonaire! This building was used by the Dutch government in the nineteenth century to store rations for government slaves. It also played a significant role in the area that was then called the country gardens to the East.

Today it is used to preserve Bonaire’s cultural wealth for current and future generations for purposes of study, education and entertainment. Events and tours are organized which many tourists refer to as the ideal starting point for their journey of discovery on Bonaire.
Conversations with locals can give you new opportunities and experiences, or simply help you figure out where you are. This will for sure be handy on your next trip to Bonaire!
